Iris Information

Size of Plants

The rhizome illustrated on the front cover showing ten increases is not unusual. The rhizomes we ship show increases which are a guarantee of bloom the following year, for without increases, a plant will not flower. We send out good-sized rhizomes but do not guarantee any particular size or number of increases, for the various varieties differ greatly in this respect. Our rhizomes, being larger than those grown in other sections, produce a better flower the first year and multiply more rapidly.

Freedom From Disease

The Iris Borer and the Japanese Beetle which infest many of the Eastern states are unknown in Oregon. All rhizomes shipped from our gardens are absolutely clean and free from any disease or pests. State horticultural experts who inspect our gardens have never found a trace of injurious pests or disease.

No Irrigation

We do not irrigate as do some Western growers. Any complaint made of irrigated plants does not refer to us. Our large rhizomes are a result of fine soil, abundant room, frequent transplanting, and our long growing season. Our large rhizomes DO NOT ROT!

Prices

Our prices are based on the amount of stock we have of each variety. Although we do not claim to quote the lowest price on each variety, we do claim that our prices considered as a whole are below average.

Descriptions

We do not apologize for our short descriptions. We give the essential characteristics and colors of each variety and the price, which is all that any flower lover needs. The lengthy, glowing descriptions used by other Iris specialists in an attempt to make sales is superfluous and may be applied to one variety as well as another. We try to make our descriptions brief and to the point. The letter "S" refers to the standards or upright petals, and the letter "F" refers to the falls or horizontal petals.

Distance We Ship

Many flower lovers have the mistaken impression that Iris rhizomes cannot be shipped long distances. Practically all of our orders are sent by parcel post and are received in as good condition 3000 miles away as 100 miles distant. We have had repeat orders from Australia and South Africa, in each case our customers informing us that the rhizomes arrived in perfect condition. A large percentage of our regular customers are situated in the New England and Atlantic states and we have never had a single complaint regarding the state of shipment upon arrival.

Orders

We prepay all postage on retail orders and ship without delay. We commence shipping immediately after the blooming season. An early order may avoid disappointment as the stock of some varieties is limited. All orders are accepted contingent upon condition and availability of stock at shipping time. Prompt cash refund for anything we cannot supply. We do not substitute. No orders filled for less than $1.00. Cash with order. Remember, our mail address is Beaverton, Oregon.

Iris Society Ratings

The figures appearing to the left of the variety name is the rating given by the society and is an aid to the flower lover in making his selection. Those having no figures are more recent introductions and have not as yet been rated. We have discarded all varieties scoring below 80, as we think there are abundant varieties above this mark to fill any garden. Varieties rated below this mark are inferior flowers and not worthy of a place in any well-considered planting.

Stock

We send out only true to name stock and gladly correct any error made in shipping. We have one of the largest collections of Iris in the world despite the fact that we have discarded hundreds of inferior varieties and only retain those of recognized merit. This year we are offering to our customers a choice of nearly four hundred bearded varieties, a select list of Spuria, Siberian, and Miscellaneous Irises, the largest collection of Oncocyclus, Regelia, and Pogocyclus hybrids offered in America, and the finest collection of correctly named Japanese varieties to be found.

Visitors

We welcome flower lovers at any season, but especially from May 10 to July 20, during the blooming season. We are located six miles west of Portland on the new Canyon Road, acclaimed as the finest highway leading into Portland. Our Portland telephone is BRoadway 9747-R-8.

Catalog

We send this catalog free of charge to our regular customers and to others requesting it. If you have friends or relatives who are interested in Iris, we shall be glad to forward them a catalog.

Hardiness

Our rhizomes are absolutely hardy. Our winters are not the mild winters of California and many of the Iris that grow well in that state do not thrive with us. Our occasionally cold snaps strengthens the rhizomes so that no difficulty is encountered when they are transplanted to colder states.

Testimonials

Our testimonials come unsolicited. So many of our customers have expressed their appreciation of our "Oregon-grown" rhizomes that we feel it only proper to print a few at the top of our catalog.

Repeat Orders

The outstanding evidence of satisfied customers is indicated by repeat orders. Many of our regular customers order from us yearly, thus keeping their Iris gardens up-to-date. A few new Iris varieties planted each year add much to the flower lover's joy during the blooming season. We find on examining our records that much of our business is repeat orders. We attribute this to the following reasons: (1) Our rhizomes do not rot; (2) our customers run no danger of importing Iris Borer or other pest or disease; (3) our prices are reasonable; (4) our rhizomes are larger than the average; and (5) we carry only the best.

"I sent you a trial order last year and your plants were fine—much larger than those of other growers."

—W. H. Kiessig, Davenport, Ia.

OREGON BEAUTY

"The Iris arrived in good condition and were promptly planted. They certainly bear out your claims for "Oregon-Grown" stock, as they were fine looking rhizomes."

—Eugene Beaudry, Whitinsville, Mass.

OUR OWN INTRODUCTIONS

OREGON GIANT (Kleinsorge 1930)—A beautiful flower, colossal in size, with broad falls and huge standards of black and red-purple on stiff and towering stems. This is an Iris which approaches perfection in the shape and size of its flowers. It is hardy, free blooming, and unsurpassed by any other variety in its color class. All who have seen it have remarked on its striking beauty.....$ 25.00

OREGON BEAUTY (Kleinsorge 1930)—A very large flower containing an exquisite blending of aconite-violet, cotinga-purple, and coppery-rose. The falls are wide and flaring, bearing a strong yellow beard. The style branches are a beautiful chrome yellow except for a medial line of violet. Haft is beautifully marked brown. There is a most remarkable and brilliant terra-cotta red in the falls slightly shaded to buff at edges. The flowers of heavy substance are borne on tall, stiff stems. The garden effect is splendid, and the plant is vigorous and hardy. See illustration. 25.00

HIGH TIDE (Barber 1930)—The entire flower is soft dark lavender, of Asia type but much better and larger. This variety will, no doubt, supplant Asia when it becomes more widely distributed. S, blue lavender; F, darker and flaring. Base of F light colored with a yellow edge. Tall, very free blooming, and a good multiplier. The flowers of splendid shape and texture are beautifully formed and poised..... 5.00

We will furnish one each of the three described above for $45.00

"The Iris arrived yesterday and I can very truthfully say that the rhizomes are the finest I have ever received. More surprising than the quality was the excellent condition of the root system—there was not the slightest sign of drying. From all appearances these rhizomes might have been sent to me from nearby Virginia rather than from all the way across the continent."

—Charles W. Ayars, Tacoma Park, D. C.

PALESTINE IRIS

This group includes the Oncocyclus and Regelia species, the Regelia-Cyclus hybrids resulting from crossing the two species, the Pogo-Regelia hybrids resulting from crossing Regelia varieties with the tall bearded Pogoniris, and the Pogo-Cyclus hybrids resulting from crossing the Oncocyclus varieties with the tall bearded species. All the Iris in this group are early and bloom three weeks before the tall bearded varieties. The hybrids are very hardy as are the Regelias.

The Oncocyclus are natives of Asia Minor, Palestine, and the Caucasus. Their flowers are massive in size and very striking in appearance. The Regelias are natives of Turkestan and Armenia. Their flowers are more slender and delicate, the stalk carrying two to three blooms. The hybrids resulting from various crosses combine the good characteristics of both parent species and are very distinctive and beautiful. A garden is incomplete without a few of these distinctive flowers. Their popularity is rapidly increasing as they are becoming better known.

An important requirement in the growing of this type is to keep all moisture from them during the summer months. In sections where rain falls, they may be lifted and stored in dry soil for the summer and replanted in the fall. Some growers plant in pots and store the pots after blooming. A well-drained lime soil is best.

ONCOCYCLUS

JAPANESE IRIS

These remarkable Iris are now coming into great popularity as their merits are becoming better known. They bloom after the Bearded Iris and continue blooming for fully six weeks. The single varieties have three petals and the double varieties six.

Japanese Iris require an acid soil to give the best bloom, although they will bloom in any soil. The proper acidity is obtained by applying a small amount of sulphate of ammonia to the soil in which they are planted—a handful to each plant, applied once a year. Use no lime. These Iris grow in practically every state, even in Minnesota. In a few places where they have not succeeded, their failure may be attributed to being planted too late in autumn and thus being heaved out by the frost. Plant either in the fall or early spring. When they are ordered with Bearded Iris, we hold this part of the order until the proper time for planting. While they give larger flowers if well watered, the roots should not stand in water during the winter.

It is to be regretted that most dealers sell "mixed" varieties, this term being used to designate seedlings of unknown value—not one per cent of which are worth planting. We have been perfecting our list of varieties for a number of years and have what we believe to be the best collection of named varieties in this country, if not in the world. We contributed nearly a hundred varieties to the Brooklyn Botanical Test Garden some years ago. Many of these varieties have been returned to us with the names which the Garden recognizes. We desire to have our Japanese Iris as correctly named as our other varieties. When other dealers are as particular, this class will become as popular as the Bearded Iris.

"The only complaint that I can make regarding your Peony roots is that some were so large that I thought it best to divide them, thus making more work planting than I had expected."
—Bird Stair, Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.

Peonies

Our specialization in Peonies began in 1912 with the purchase of the largest collection then in the West, and its removal to Beaverton. We have more than 400 varieties growing in our gardens but are listing only those of recognized merit now retailing at reasonable prices. If you desire any varieties not listed in this catalog, we shall be glad to quote you a price, for we have them growing in the field. If you will compare these prices with the prices of other dealers, you will realize just how low they are. Also, bear in mind that we prepay postage and make prompt shipment after the middle of September, which is as early as a Peony should be moved. We have shipped to all parts of the United States with satisfactory results.

Our Peonies begin flowering in May and continue through June. If you have never seen them in bloom, mere words cannot describe their beauty to you, for they make a great bouquet of pink, white and red with all the various shades between. Last year we had 20,000 visitors and we trust that you will be one of that number to visit our gardens this year. We give a large, well-balanced root of 3 to 7 eyes, having been grown in rich clay soil. Anyone dissatisfied with plants they receive from us may have their money refunded with the return of unsatisfactory roots.

Cultural Directions

Plant in ordinary soil, first spading the ground well and then planting so that the eyes will be covered with two inches of dirt. Too deep planting results in blind shoots, while exposed eyes result in weak flowers. Plant in full sunlight, away from the roots of trees or shrubs.

Do not fertilize with barnyard manure or other fertilizer rich in nitrogen. Peonies need acid phosphate to produce flowers and potash in order to give strength to the stems. Bone meal is the ideal fertilizer for this purpose. Apply in the fall or early spring for the ingredients are not immediately available for plant food. Scatter the fertilizer around each plant—about a handful to a plant—before the working of the soil each year. The dirt around the plants should be kept well stirred in order to retain the soil moisture.

Peonies as Cut Flowers

Peonies will last as cut flowers from a few hours to two weeks. When cut in the field after being fully open and especially cut in the middle of the day, they last but two to three hours. But cut in bud early in the morning or late in the evening and then placed in water in a cool place, the blooms will last for several days. We keep the Reine Hortense variety two weeks in this way.

SINGLE PEONIES

The single varieties are becoming more popular as they become better known. They are more early and very attractive, having a single row of petals with a center of yellow stamens. In the early morning and at dusk the flowers are closed, resembling large rosebuds, and are especially alluring. They keep well as cut flowers.
